The Seaward Squadron

The Seaward Squadron is an informal association of Seaward owners.

It gives a forum for owners of Seaward boats to meet and exchange ideas. New and prospective owners are always welcome to seek advice.

Each year a friendly get together is arranged. The first meeting took place in Guernsey in 1988 when just seven boats took part.

We have visited most of the Solent harbours and ports as widely spaced as Plymouth, Cherbourg and Guernsey.

This year, which was the 24th gathering, Bucklers Hard in the Beaulieu River was chosen as the venue

Plans have yet to be made for 2012 and suggestions as to the venue would be most welcome.

Suggestions so far are: Lymington, Yarmouth Weymouth or Guernsey.

Please let me have your vote.

Buckler's Hard 3rd to 5th June 2011

The Beaulieu River proved to be a popular venue for this years rally and with good weather promised, a great weekend was anticipated by all.

Alchemy traveled across from Guernsey, via Weymouth, on the Wednesday to ensure everything was organised.

Seawards gathered on the pontoon

Craft started to arrive around mid-day on Friday. Several boats berthed on the Events Pontoon in the river, others chose to go into the Marina, where they had the benefit of electricity.

By the end of the afternoon most of the boats had arrived and everyone was ready for the trip to The Royal Southampton Yacht Club at Gin's Farm.

The riverboat 'Oliver B' took the party on a short cruise downriver to the clubhouse. The skipper gave a commentary, on the way, explaining the history of the river.

Gin's Farm is an annex of the Royal Southampton Yacht Club and occupies a fantastic position, overlooking the Beaulieu River. They welcome members from other yacht clubs and have a walk ashore pontoon that is available to visitors.

Saturday dawned as another fine day and after breakfast crews started to make their own plans to enjoy the day. Euan McNair took the Palmer family across the river on Sirius to visit Exbury Gardens.

Many people chose to visit Beaulieu Village, some via the picturesque River Walk, others went up-river in their own dinghies.

Pre-Dinner Drinks

Barry and Alison Kimber joined the party for the highlight of the weekend; the Gala Dinner at the Master Builder's Hotel. Prior to the meal the party gathered in the evening sunshine for pre-dinner drinks

Everyone was very impressed with quality of the local produce used to prepare the meal and said that they enjoyed a very fine meal. Wines to accompany the meal were kindly provided with the compliments of Seaward Marine.

After the dinner the John Hickman Cup was presented to Michael Awty. This award goes to the Skipper who has made the greatest effort to attend the rally or has supported the rally best over the past years.

The weekend gives Seaward Boat Owners a great opportunity to get together, swap ideas about their boats and make new friends. Everybody seems to have had a great time.
